A Message from the Director....

Unclaimed Life Insurance Benefits Act Enacted by Legislature

Bruce R. Ramage
Director of Insurance

A number of legislative bills were passed by the Legislature and approved by the Governor that affect the insurance industry. LB 137, introduced by Senator Brett Lindstrom on behalf of the Department of Insurance, adopts the National Conference of Insurance Legislators model act on unclaimed life insurance benefits.

The new Act requires life insurers to perform, semi-annually, a comparison of its insureds' in-force policies and retained asset accounts against the death master file of the United States Social Security Administration, or similar database, to identify possible matches of insureds. The Act also requires insurers to implement procedures to account for a variety of commonly used but inexact identifiers in the search.

If a potential match is found, the Act requires the insurer to complete a good faith effort to confirm the death of the insured, determine whether or not benefits are due, and if benefits are due, the insurer must complete a good faith effort to locate the beneficiary and provide appropriate claims forms and instructions.

LB 137 does not apply to ERISA plans, pre-need funeral products, credit life or accidental death insurance, and certain annuities used to fund employment-based retirement plans. The legislation also provides discretion to the Director of Insurance to limit the insurer's death master file comparisons to electronic files, to exempt or limit an insurer from the comparison due to a demonstration of hardship, and to phase in compliance with the Act.

Failure to comply with Act is an unfair trade practice in the business of insurance.

The Act becomes operative on January 1, 2018.

PRODUCER LICENSING DIVISION

Continuing Education Requirements

Producers are reminded to complete their continuing education requirements prior to their renewal month in order to give the education provider a reasonable amount of time to upload the education to the producer's transcript. Education providers have 10 days to upload course rosters.

If these credit hours are not uploaded to the resident producer's record, then the producer will not be allowed to renew the license. If continuing education is completed in the last month of the renewal period, there may not be enough time for the continuing education to show on the producer's transcript and the producer will not be able to renew online.

Reminder to Education Providers

Education providers are reminded that courses do not expire. As a result, some courses that are no longer offered by the provider may show up on the list of courses available. The provider should regularly check their information on the SBS website for accuracy.

The provider may notify the licensing division to remove any inactive courses by emailing doi.licensing@nebraska.gov. Providers may also update their address, phone number, email, and contact name by typing over the current information via the Provider Summary page on www.statebasedsystems.com.

Producers are reminded to complete continuing education requirements prior to their renewal month to give the education provider a reasonable amount of time to upload the education to the producer's transcript.

Education providers are reminded that courses do not expire, and should regularly check their information on the SBS website for accuracy.

Case SummariesKroemer v. Omaha Track Equip, 296 Neb. 972

Kroemer, an employee of Ribbon Weld, LLC (RW), sustained a serious eye injury in a work accident at Omaha Track Equipment, LLC (OTE). RW and OTE are both wholly owned subsidiaries of The Tie Yard of Omaha. RW employees occasionally use OTE shop and tools. The Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court approved a compromise lump sum payment from RW to Kroemer to settle the workers' compensation claim, which included benefits and other expenses.

Following the settlement, Kroemer sued OTE, The Tie Yard, and RW on the grounds of negligence. RW was made a party solely for their statutory subrogation rights under Neb. Rev. Stat. § 48-118. The district court held a settlement and allocation hearing pursuant to Neb. Rev. Stat. § 48-114.04(2) and determined the settlement was reasonable. Though Kroemer's damages may have been as high as $1.25 million, a possibility existed he may have been more than fifty percent at comparative fault. The district court allocated $94,834.27 to Kroemer, $55,165.73 for attorney fees and expenses, and $0 to RW on the subrogation claim.

RW appealed, arguing the settlement was not fair and reasonable and the allocation of $0 was not fair and equitable. The Court's test for determining the fairness and reasonableness of a settlement of a third-party claim under the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act (the Act) is to consider the liability, damages, and ability to satisfy the judgment. While neither the ability to pay nor the damages were in dispute, liability was in question. Though Kroemer had the possibility of a large verdict, the reduced settlement reflected valid concerns of his own comparative negligence. The Court found no abuse of discretion by the district court approving the settlement.

The allocation of the settlement amount is a different matter, specifically the $94,834.27 allocated to Kroemer. Here, the Court determined the district court did abuse its discretion in denying RW any amount of subrogation. In its analysis, the Court noted the Nebraska statutory workers' compensation scheme rejects both first claim (i.e. the compensator gets reimbursement for its expenditures and the employee gets the rest) and made whole (i.e. employee has been fully and completely compensated) doctrine. Instead, Neb. Rev. Stat. § 48-118.04(02) provides for a fair and equitable distribution of any settlement.

The Court relied on its holding in Bacon v. DBI/SALA, 284 Neb. 579, 822 N.W.2d 14 (2012). In Bacon, the Court held the purpose of the Act is for the employee to promptly receive workers' compensation benefits from the employer. Statutory subrogation was enacted to provide employers who provide the benefits a measure of relief from third-party tort-feasors.

Next, the Court disapproved a Court of Appeals decision, In re Estate of Evertson, 23 Neb. App. 734, 876 N.W.2d 678 (2016). In Evertson, an insurer sought a subrogation interest in a $250,000 settlement from a third-party tort-feasor allocated to a victim's surviving spouse. The Court of Appeals did not overturn the county court's allocation of $0 to the insurer. Eventually, Evertson was overturned by the Supreme Court on other grounds and did not need to address the allocation. Because the district court relied on Evertson in making the allocation in the present case, the Court determined its reasoning was flawed. The Court of Appeal's analysis of payment of premiums for workers' compensation or the comparative risk between an insurance company and employee were not appropriate factors for determining allocation. Nor is the employer's or insurer's participation, or lack thereof, in settlement negotiations. Instead, the Court held that when an employer or insurer holds a sizable subrogation interest, it is not a fair and equitable distribution to award the employer or insurer $0.

Because the district court allocated $0 of the settlement to RW, the Court found the district court abused its discretion and the allocation was not fair and equitable. The Nebraska Supreme Court affirmed the settlement, but reversed and remanded to the district court the allocation of $0 to RW as legally untenable and remanded to the district court to make a fair and equitable distribution of the remaining $94,834.27.

2017 Legislative Summary

The 105th Legislature, First Session, adjourned for the year on May 23, 2017. Two issues, legislative rules and the budget, dominated the session. Normally, the Legislature will spend a day or so discussing and approving their rules at the beginning of the biennial legislative session—2017 proved an unusual year. Adoption of the permanent rules did not occur until March 17.

Also unusual for a legislative session was the budget. Declining farm revenues have led to declining tax revenue. Despite the acrimony surrounding the rules debate, the Senators moved swiftly early in the session to make the necessary reductions to the existing budget before working on the budget for the biennium beginning July 1, 2017. The debate on the new budget package ended when the Legislature failed to override the Governor's line-item vetoes just prior to adjournment.

In between the rules debate and the final budget debate, the Legislature passed a number of legislative bills. As is the case with every legislative session, the Department of Insurance pursues its own legislative package and tracks other legislation affecting either the insurance industry or the Department itself. Listed below are brief descriptions of legislative bills passed by the Legislature and approved by the Governor affecting the insurance industry.

Information on the Legislature and all legislative bills is located on the Legislature's website, www.nebraskalegislature.gov. The website contains a wealth of information on legislative bills, State Senators, the state budget, and the legislative process. When searching for the text of a legislative bill, please be sure to read the 'Slip Law' copy to view the enacted language of the legislation. Unless otherwise noted below, all legislative bills become effective on August 24.

LB 35 (Senator Burke Harr) Change provisions relating to the Nebraska Model Business Corporation Act. LB 35 amends the Nebraska Model Business Corporation Act to enact recent updates approved by the American Bar Association to their model, the basis for Nebraska's model. The Nebraska Model Business Corporation Act became effective on January 1, 2017, and LB 35 is additional clean-up to the Act. To a lesser degree, LB 99 and LB 476 also amended the Act. LB 35 becomes operative on January 1, 2018.

LB 92 (Senator Mark Kolterman) Require health carriers to provide coverage for telehealth services and change telehealth provisions relating to children’s behavioral health. Section 1 of the legislation provides that an insurer shall not exclude a service from coverage solely because the service is delivered through telehealth and is not provided through in-person consultation or contact between a licensed health care provider and a patient. Section 1, codified at Neb. Rev. Stat. § 44-7,107, does not apply to specified disease policies or other limited-benefit coverage.

LB 231 (Senator Mark Kolterman) Authorize disciplinary action under the Insurance Producers Licensing Act for failing to maintain a license in good standing. LB 231 was introduced by Senator Kolterman on behalf of the Department of Insurance to provide authority to the Director to sanction a non-resident insurance producer (insurance producers with a Nebraska license but who reside in another state) who fails to maintain their home state license in good standing after receiving their Nebraska license.

LB 239 (Senator Roy Baker) Change provisions relating to trust funds under the Burial Pre-Need Sale Act. Introduced on behalf of the Department of Insurance, LB 239 addresses the distribution of excess income in a pre-need trust. The legislation requires a seller to provide cost of living adjustments to the principal, including missed adjustments from previous years due to underperformance, before the seller can receive income from the trust.

LB 241 (Senator Joni Craighead) Provide an exception to the annual privacy notice requirement under the Privacy of Insurance Consumer Information Act. In 2015, Congress amended the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act to provide an exception to the annual notice requirement if a company provides personal information non-affiliated third parties only as outlined in law and has not changed its policies disclosed in the most recent disclosure to the consumer. Nebraska’s Privacy of Insurance Consumer Information Act closely follows Gramm-Leach-Bliley and the Act was amended, via LB 241, to provide the new exception to the requirement that licensees of the Department are to provide an annual privacy statement. LB 241 relaxes the annual disclosure requirement if the licensee meets the criteria outlined in Gramm-Leach-Bliley.

LB 306 (Senator Brett Lindstrom) Change provisions relating to the coverage scope and notice required under the Portable Electronics Insurance Act. LB 306 amended the Portable Electronics Insurance Act in three ways. First, it changes the definition of “portable electronics” to make the definition broader and more consistent with definitions used by other regulatory bodies. Second, it lowers the amount of time a company has to provide notice of cancellation of a portable electronic policy from 60 days to 30 days. Finally, the legislation provides that disclosure of notice in electronic form shall be provided within thirty days after the purchase of the portable electronic.

LB 406 (Senator Mark Kolterman) Change provisions relating to notices of cancellation, nonrenewal, or nonpayment of premiums for insurance policies. The legislation amends Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 44-516 (notice of cancellation of an automobile liability policy), 44-522 (notice of cancellation or nonrenewal of a property, marine, or liability policy), and 44-523 (notice of cancellation of an automobile policy for reasons other than nonpayment) to allow notice to be mailed by first-class mail using intelligent mail barcode or another similar tracking method used or approved by the United States Postal Service. This method would be available in addition to registered or certified mail in all circumstances, as well as regular first class mail in § 44-522.

LB 444 (Senator Lynn Walz) Prohibit cities and counties from cancelling health insurance coverage for injured first responders as prescribed and include under the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act frontline state employees with respect to personal injuries.

LB 444 has two parts. First, it prohibits city and counties who offer individual and family health insurance to first responders from cancelling such coverage for any first responder who suffers serious bodily injury from an assault that occurs while the first responder is on duty and results in the first responder from working the minimum number of hours necessary to maintain coverage. The city or county shall only be obligated to provide such coverage while the first responder is employed with the city or county and the city or county may cancel coverage if the first responder does not return to employment within twelve months of the injury.

Second, LB 444 adds frontline state employees to the group of employees able to claim workers' compensation benefits for mental injuries without an accompanying physical injury. Frontline state employee is defined to include certain prison guards and Department of Health and Human Services employees, as outlined in the legislation. Currently, only first responders are able to claim "mental mental" benefits.

Feel free to contact the Department's Legislative Liaison, Robert Bell, by phone (402) 471-4650 or email robert.bell@nebraska.gov, with any questions regarding legislation or the legislative process.

Compliance Contact Information

The Consumer Affairs Division has been electronically transmitting consumer complaint information to insurance companies, third-party administrators and agents since 2014. Being able to transmit information electronically saves time and postage, and helps us to achieve our goal of providing effective, efficient service to consumers. It is essential that we have current compliance contact information, including the name, telephone number and email address of the individual responsible for processing consumer complaints. FRAUD DIVISIONAttempts to Fraudulently Disburse Funds From Annuity Contracts Reported

The Insurance Fraud Prevention Division (IFPD) has recently received information from an insurer licensed in Nebraska that several attempts have been made to disburse funds from annuity contracts held by Nebraskans. It has been found that the annuity owners were not aware of the attempts. Security measures put into place by the insurer were able to stop the transactions.

According to the insurer, the person or persons responsible were in possession of personal information, including specific contract numbers, as well as social security numbers associated with the account.

Criminals may have accessed personal information through a variety of means and the investigation is ongoing.

Insurers and consumers should be aware of this ongoing criminal activity and take measures to safeguard their security.

If you have suspected fraud to report, please contact the Insurance Fraud Prevention Division (IFPD) at the Nebraska Department of Insurance at 402-471-2201 or email our investigators at DOI.FraudPrevention@nebraska.gov. Additional information on insurance fraud is available on our website at www.ReportInsuranceFraud.ne.gov.

Self-Insured Entities May Be a Target for Health Care Fraud

Mayra De Lourdes Zeno reinstated her Nebraska medical license just prior to filing articles of incorporation to open Good Hands Clinic, PC. The listed purpose for this corporation's business was to "engage in general medicine providing professional treatments and alike services." The real purpose appears to be somewhat different.

On January 19, 2017, Dr. Zeno was indicted in United States District Court and charged with fraudulently submitting claims to third party administrators (TPAs) handling health insurance claims for self-insured entities located in Nebraska. The indictment accused Dr. Zeno of receiving $448,772.64 for services that she failed to provide.

This investigation was initiated upon information received by the Insurance Fraud Prevention Division and quickly became a joint investigation with federal authorities and ultimately led to Dr. Zeno's indictment.

Court Actions

Douglas County Court, Case CR16-2015

State v. Cindy S. Tock

Cindy Tock was working in an Omaha physician's office when she devised a scheme to defraud the provider. Ms. Tock found an opportunity and provided fraudulent workers' compensation impairment ratings, which resulted in payments being issued to the physician. Thousands of dollars in payments to the physician, from several insurance companies, were diverted by Ms. Tock. The effects of the fraudulent impairment ratings resulted in numerous cases of insurance fraud due to the ratings being used to determine the claimant's level of disability. As one would expect, there were cases of overpayment and underpayment in the handling of the workers' compensation claims. There were also expenses related to reviewing the individual workers' compensation claims affected by the fraudulent impairment ratings. Pursuant to an amended complaint, Ms. Tock pled no contest to felony counts of theft by deception and fraudulent insurance act. Ms. Tock's sentence included four years' probation plus associated costs and $12,750 in restitution to the physician. Ms. Tock must also serve 180 days in jail unless waived by the court.

Douglas County District Court, Cases CR15-3002 and CR15-3003

State v. Raymond A. Sanchez, Jr.

Raymond A. Sanchez Jr. was a licensed insurance agent when it was discovered he was diverting client funds meant to be invested in annuity products. One client issued a $4,250 check to Mr. Sanchez to be deposited into their annuity. A second client invested $40,200 through a series of checks from her personal account. The Insurance Fraud Prevention Division's (IFPD) investigation found Mr. Sanchez was diverting the money for personal use. Mr. Sanchez pled no contest to two Class III felony counts of theft by deception. Mr. Sanchez was ordered to serve five years' probation and pay $44,450 in restitution to the two elderly victims.

Douglas County District Court, Case CR16-807

State v. Tamra K. Rutherford

Tamra Rutherford was working in an Omaha insurance company's claims center where she held a supplemental cancer policy pursuant to her employment. During a claim audit, the insurance company found that Ms. Rutherford submitted false documents to collect benefits under her supplemental cancer policy. Ms. Rutherford was charged in Douglas County with one felony count of theft by deception, a Class III felony. On May 26, 2016, Ms. Rutherford was accepted into Douglas County's diversion program.

Douglas County District Court, Case CR16-3280

State v. Brittany C. Ouellette

Brittany Ouellette was arrested pursuant to an investigation conducted by the Omaha Police Department. Ms. Ouellette was working for an Omaha insurance agency when she accessed clients' personal information, including credit card numbers. It was found Ms. Ouellette used the credit cards to make purchases. Ms. Ouellette was charged with felony criminal possession of a financial transaction device. Ms. Ouellette pled no contest to an amended charge and was sentenced to two years' probation and associated costs.

Douglas County District Court, Case CR17-1064State v. Scott K. Perry

Fortunately for Scott Perry, he purchased his auto liability policy prior to striking a 2009 Honda later in the day. Although somewhat suspicious, after the insurance company reviewed the accident report, they covered the accident resulting in a $9,944.08 loss. Days later, Omaha police officers responded to a parking complaint involving the 2009 Honda that Mr. Perry struck. The officers were contacted by a witness who had observed the accident. The witness comments aroused the officers' suspicions and they reviewed the accident report. The officers noticed the accident report did not correspond with the witness statements. The officers contacted the Insurance Fraud Prevention Division (IFPD) with their concerns. The IFPD's investigation resulted in a felony warrant being issued for Mr. Perry for insurance fraud.

Mr. Snyder was accused of binding coverage on his enclosed trailer after a significant hailstorm passed through Lancaster County. The storm caused substantial damage to his trailer. Mr. Snyder quickly bound coverage for the trailer over the telephone and later submitted a claim for storm-related damage alleging insurance coverage was bound prior to the loss. The insurance company's potential loss exceeded $10,000. The IFPD's investigation proved otherwise. Charges were subsequently amended to a Class I misdemeanor, to which Mr. Snyder pled guilty. On April 25, 2017, Mr. Snyder was fined $750 plus court costs.
